

KNOX IMPORTED TO DO TAFT POLITICS?

California Governor Attends Exposition Management for Paying Expenses

PRIVATE CAR COST $5,000

Each Faction Confident of Victory at Presidential Primaries Today

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—The
eleventh hour of the presidential primary campaign took an unexpected turn today. Governor Johnson, who announced that he had closed his campaign for Roosevelt, reopened it with an attack on the Panama-Pacific International exposition management for importing a cabinet officer, "to do the Taft politics" as he charged, at the cost of exposition funds; and he
lengthened his speaking list to include
an address tonight in Berkeley.

"I've just learned," said the governor this afternoon, "that the exposition paid $5,000 for the expenses of the private car of Secretary Knox on his recent visit."

"There would be no objection thus
to pay the expenses of a distinguished guest, but who will justify that payment in order that Mr. Knox may do Taft politics in California?"

Predictions of the result tomorrow
at the polls varied as widely as ever.
Col. Charles Miffin Hammond, chairman of the Taft Republicans, closed a summary of arguments already made
for his principal with the following
paraphrase:

Each Side Confident.

"A careful canvass of the state and
my sincere personal belief in the influence and gratitude of the people
lead me to predict, without any doubt,
that President Taft will carry the state by a very handsome majority."

Roosevelt's managers see a plurality
in the state of not less than 75,000 and a majority of not less than 25,000. The last Pacific Taft estimate was a plurality of 25,000.

Tonight for the first time the progressive gave an analysis of their computed prospects.

"We have detailed reports from every large center of population and
of the small ones," reads the statement. "Starting with San Francisco,
where Colonel Roosevelt will receive
a plurality, his lead will be increased to 45 out of the remaining counties
of California."

Trickery, Cry La Follette Men.

The landscape wears a different face
to the La Follette managers. "Facing
certain defeat throughout the state,"
they begin their estimate, "the Roosevelt forces have stooped to the very

ROLLING UP DELEGATES FOR FORMER PRESIDENT

GREENSBORO, N. C., May 13.—

tional Republican convention elected

Hobson, instructed for Roosevelt.

Second district delegates to the national Republican convention elected
today. D. W. Patrick and George W.
Stanton, instructed for Roosevelt.

ASHVILLE, N. C., May 13.—The Tenth district today elected Dr. A. T.
Hendard and R. H. Staton delegates to the Chicago convention and instructed for Roosevelt.

ST. PAUL, May 13.—County conventions held throughout Minnesota today to select delegates to the state Republican convention at Minneapolis
next Thursday were, in most cases,
controlled by the followers of Roosevelt. The Minnesota delegation of 24
to the national convention will be for
the former president.

Delegates to congressional conventions to be held next Wednesday also were chosen today, and Colonel Roosevelt carried each district.

President Taft will have an instructed delegation from only one county.
La Follette had his best showing in the Ninth district, carrying four counties, with one still to hear from,
though Roosevelt delegates say they are sure of control.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 13.—Taft
supporters scored the first victory in the fight for control of the Republican convention here tomorrow, when they elected the state committee selecting V. Brown of Chattanooga as temporary chairman. Mr. Brown is a Taft supporter.

SEATTLE, Wash., May 13.—Lewis
county Republicans, the last to hold
their county convention, split today.
The Taft men choosing a delegation of 3 and the Roosevelt men electing a number to go to the state convention at Aberdeen, Wednesday.

With all the counties in the state
settled from delegates are classed as follows:
Roosevelt, 234; Taft, 171; La Follette,
1; contested, 261. Necessary to congressional convention, 335.

Mrs. Nelson H. Henry, under whose leadership the scores of New York society women have labored for weeks in their effort to comfort and care for the survivors of the Titanic disaster who lost their relatives, friends and belongings, has given out a statement showing that $36,175 was raised by the Women's Relief Committee and 526 survivors were cared for. The expense of carrying on this magnificent work is given at the amount of $15,400.

Three Aeroplane Accidents With As Many Fatalities

LONDON, May 13.—Victor Louis Mason, an American identified with extensive mining interests and at one time private secretary to Gen. R. A.
Alger, American secretary of war, was killed today while making a flight at Brooklands with the English aviator,
E. V. Fisher. Fisher also was killed
by being pitched out of the machine
when at a height of 150 feet.

Fisher was about to give an exhibition and picked Mr. Mason as a passenger from among the spectators.
They cleared the track once when eye
witnesses say the machine, which was a monoplane, made an abrupt turn. It wavered a moment and then fell straight to earth.

The sudden stoppage in the air threw Fisher headlong from his seat. Mason
was pinned beneath the wreckage
which caught fire and he was badly burned before being extricated. Physicians say both men died almost immediately.

Other Flyers Try to Aid.

Thomas Sopwith also was flying
with a passenger and witnessed the accident. He flew in the direction of the wrecked machine and alighted
close beside it. The two men tried their utmost to beat down the flames.

Victor Louis Mason resided at Passage, N. J. He was born in Washington in 1870. His wife was Miss Daisy Simmons of Washington. He served as private secretary to General Alger and Secretary Root in 1897-98. He was alternate delegate to the Republican national convention at Chicago.

CLARK FAVORITE IN TWO STATES

CLIOVIS, N. M., May 13.—It is reasonably certain that the Democratic state convention which meets here tomorrow night will send New Mexico's
first eight delegates to a national gathering to Baltimore instructed for Champ Clark. About one-half of the 311 delegates to the state convention are here tonight. Of the 311 the Clark men claim 266. There have been 15 county conventions and of 28 indicated for Clark. Two are instructed for Woodrow Wilson and the remaining ones
are uninstructed.

Adherents of Wilson and Harmon tonight are seeking to effect an alliance
by which an uninstructed delegation
will be sent to Baltimore. A number of state delegates who favor Clark are opposed to an instructed delegation and
the Wilson and Harmon men hope to find enough of them to block instructions.

It is believed the Clark men have a sufficient majority to make victory certain. If their program is carried out, the convention will probably complete its work tomorrow night and adjourn.

Sharp Conflict is Possible.

The desire of a strong contingent
to reorganize the state committee at the convention may cause a sharp conflict. Supporters of James D. Hand
of Las Vegas, who has conducted the Clark anti-convention campaign, want
him elected state chairman at the con-

DIRECT ELECTION MEASURE PASSES

CHANGES METHOD OF SE-LECTING SENATORS

Legislation Advocated Since
1826 Now Goes to States
for Ratification

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The house
today adopted, 237 to 174, a joint resolution providing for an amendment to the constitution to permit the election
of United States senators by direct vote of the people. It already had passed the senate and now goes to the states for ratification. All that remains to be done is the formal signing
of the instrument and the issuance of a proclamation to the states to signify
their wishes on the proposed change.

The vote was preceded by a bitter
fight in which the southern members
joined common cause against the resolution. Led by Representative Bartlett
of Georgia, the Georgia, Mississippi
and Louisiana delegations fought to prevent its passage because of the senate amendment which gave the federal government supervision of the elections. They based their opposition almost entirely on the danger of negro domination.

The first vote was on an amendment
by Representative Bartlett which took
from the federal government all supervisory powers. It was defeated 183 to 91. On the vote for the adoption of the resolution two-thirds of the house being necessary, 10 Democrats deserted.

There was not a single Republican vote cast against the resolution, which was adopted to the accompaniment of thunderous applause.

Direct election of senators first was taken up by congress in 1826. From time to time attempts have been made
to make the senators a popular body,
and have been defeated as are the members of the house. Numbers
of these resolutions have died in committee while others were passed at the last moment of a congress never to receive the president's signature.

Senator Bristow of Kansas, introduced in 1911 the one that passed today. Amended by the house it has been in conference since July 3, last year, and if the house had not rejected its opposition to granting
federal control of senatorial elections
it might have met the fate of the others. It was this danger which led the house to agree not to press its views.

GEN. J. W. DUNCAN DIES SUDDENLY

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., May 14.—
Gen. Joseph W. Duncan, U. S. A., commanding the department of Texas, died
at 12:30 this (Tuesday) morning of heart failure. He had been ill only a few days. General Duncan was 55
years old.

General Duncan was born in an army camp on the bank of the Nueces
river in Texas, June 29, 1853. His father being General Thomas Duncan.

General Duncan was appointed to West Point from Missouri and went
from the military school to the Twenty-first infantry in 1873. In 1878 he was made a first lieutenant for gallant services against the Indians in Idaho. In 1888 he became a captain and in 1893 a major. In 1901 a lieutenant colonel, in 1905 a colonel and in 1911 he was promoted to a brigadier general.

Besides taking part in the Indian wars and in numerous expeditions on the plains and mountains for 20 years
he took part in the battle of San Juan hill and the siege of Santiago and later served in the Philippine islands.

FORMER "TIN PLATE KING" HAS A VERY POOR MEMORY REGARDING STEEL TRUST

NEW YORK, May 13.—Daniel G.
Reid, the railroad financier and former "tin plate king," a director and member of the finance committee of the United States Steel corporation,
was called as a witness today at the hearing of the government suit to dissolve the corporation, to tell how the American Tin Plate company was organized.

First of the many leading defendants to appear on the stand, Mr. Reid gave a poor witness for the government, and time and again his answer
to questions regarding financial phases of the tin plate company's formation was "I do not remember,"
or "I do not recollect." His poor memory appeared to exasperate Judge Edickson, chief counsel for the government, and prompted him to remark:

"You can bring a horse to water,
but you can't make him drink. You can subpoena a witness, but it seems that you can't make him remember."

The government contends that the American tin plate company, which became a part of the United States Steel corporation, was in itself a combination in restraint of trade, and that its stock was watered.

Mind Perfect Blank on Subject.

Mr. Reid told how, in 1888, he and Judge William H. Moore had waded
the company together out of 35 tin
plate concerns, representing some 90 per cent of the industry, but upon the question as to what the properties

Orozco Is Not Discouraged by Defeat; Says Fight Just Begun

AT GENERAL OROZCO'S HEAD-QUARTERS, JIMENEZ, Mexico, May 13.—Concerning his defeat in the initial battle before Conchos, General Pascual Orozco tonight is by no means discouraged.

"The revolution has just begun," he said, "and we are confident that we will ultimately overthrow Alvaro. For a just revolution will always triumph.
Lack of food and water for our men
and horses, as well as the better artillery of the federals, caused our defeat. We had insecure positions and retreated for strategic reasons. Our losses were light."

General Orozco would not say how
many men he had lost, but admitted
that he had not heard from General Campes and Arzúaga, whom he sent around to the west of Conchos to flank the federals. Appreciation is felt for both commanders and their force of 2,500 men. General Telles
of the federal army is believed to have engaged them and cut off their retreat.

General Orozco was at a loss to account for rumors in circulation today
that he had been killed.

"Madero Will Find Me Alive."

"Madero will find me very much alive before many days," said Orozco
grimly.

Only skirmishing occurred today.
The rebels chiefly occupied themselves in recovering from yesterday's fight.

The northward movement of the fed-
erals was not unexpected nor undesired but it was not intended that they should be permitted to advance to any great distance. It was planned to draw them out, thus permitting a flanking movement to harass more effectively the weakened federal forces
left at Mampul, Bujavilla, and even Torreon.

The situation now is that the main body of the rebels is at Jimenez while Colonel Canales and General Campes
are yet in their position along the west
flank, threatening the federal base. The federals control the railroad as far north as Conchos.

It is believed the federals will follow their temporary advantage and in the meantime Orozco and his staff are

DELEGATES GATHERING FOR CONVENTION ARE RETICENT

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 13.—Delegates who arrived today for the tri-
district convention of the United Mine Workers, which convenes tomorrow,
to consider the tentative agreement entered into by the subcommittee of the miners and operators are reticent regarding what the assemblage will do.

Most of the delegates are expected to be uninstructed and many have declared they will follow the advice of their leaders. The district leaders have not yet intimated what this advice will be but as Pres. John P. White and the three district presidents signed
the tentative agreement it is believed that the officers will advocate acceptance.

The tentative agreement grants the
men a 10 per cent increase in wages
but abolishes the sliding scale. The miners say the abolition of the sliding scale will give them a net increase of only between 4 and 6 per cent. The slightest demand was not granted.

STORM IS MOST UNUSUAL IN YEARS

Total Precipitation for Last Four Days 1.81 Inches.
Eight Inches Snow

GREAT BENEFIT TO FARMERS

At Lake Moraine 3½ Feet of Snow Recorded—Telephones
Are Out of Commission

The snow and rain storm, which
continued all last night in Colorado Springs after more than four days of nearly continuous precipitation, is one of the most unusual that the state has known. The total precipitation up to 8 o'clock last night was 1.81 inches.
It probably reached two inches by midnight. This is three times as great as the total for the entire month
last year and is nearly as much as the usual precipitation for the month of May during the last 47 years. The maximum for the month was 2.36 inches. On May 14 of last year 3.5 of an inch fell and 2.3 on the same day of the preceding year.

More than eight inches of snow had fallen in this city up to 12 o'clock
last night and at Lake Moraine 42 inches was recorded. This is the heaviest storm of the year in the mountains and will fill the city reservoirs. It is thought. The counties to the east are reported to have received
about the same amount of moisture
as in this city, which will be a great benefit to the dry farmers.

Snow Melted Rapidly.

The snow melted rapidly and the streets were running with water during the early part of the night. In the downtown district where the streets are torn up, conditions are said
to be something similar to those in southern cities in flood times, when boards are used at the crossings.

The present storm has been a combination of rain and snow. It began Thursday afternoon and partially ceased Saturday morning, but came intensely to the afternoon. Since that time there has been only a few hours
of clear weather. At Cheyenne mountain
the snow fell continuously for 55 hours
with a total of about 25 inches up to 10 o'clock last night.

The damage to the telephone system
in the vicinity of Colorado Springs
will not be completely repaired before Friday or Saturday, according to the manager of the telephone company.
More than 1,400 telephones were out
of use last night and unless the storm
breaks, many more will be made useless. A gang of 125 men will start to work this morning in repairing the lines. The high tension wires came away in every part of the city and
many short circuits resulted.

Little Delay in Train Service.

There was practically no delay in the train service in and out of this city. A number of the wires west of here on the Colorado Midland were broken and the company was unable to get a report of operations on that system.

The storm area extends from southern Wyoming through Colorado along
the eastern slope of the mountains.
The first districts of the western slope
have had no snow and little rain. W.
D. Ellis, a fruit man of Grand Junction,
who arrived in Colorado Springs last night, said that he did not think there was any possibility of a frost in the Grand valley. The latest frost for that section during any year was several weeks earlier than the present time of year.

It is probable that it will be several days before trains can again be run on the Cog road. The snow has fallen rapidly on the Peak and there has been some wind which probably filled the cuts which were but recently shoveled
out.

The pioneers of Colorado Springs
agree that the present storm is the heaviest for this season that has been

NEW ORLEANS, May 13.—With the

A hurry call was sent from Conrads
Point to Baton Rouge for workmen

FIRE DESTROYS HOUSE OUTSIDE CITY LIMITS

A large residence in the northern part of Ramona addition, on the edge of the mesa just north of Colorado city, caught fire about 1:30 o'clock this (Tuesday) morning and it is thought that it burned to the ground.

Neither the Colorado Springs nor Colorado City fire departments made the run to the burning house, although both departments went to the city limits of their respective communities, thinking the fire was in the city.

From indefinite reports received over the telephone at both stations, the fire evidently was caused by the explosion of a lamp, and it spread so rapidly that the owner lost control of it. It is said that nothing was saved from the dwelling.

SUMMER STOCK SEASON

James Hawley and the Garrick Players opened the stock season at the Opera house last night with "Mary Jane's Pa." The production was most satisfactory, considering the few rehearsals of the company and the innumerable odds and ends which prevent the first performance of a newly assembled company from running smoothly. There was a long wait between acts, and the orchestra was nearly 10 minutes late in arriving but taking it by and large, the audience was well satisfied. And an exceptionally large attendance was in evidence which was remarkable, considering the stormy night.

The production will be presented all this week. Judging from last night's performance the stock company this summer will excel that at the Opera house last year.

ABE RUEF INDICTMENTS ARE TO BE DISMISSED

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—Sixty remaining indictments and one criminal information still pending against Abraham Ruef, the convicted politician, will be dismissed by the superior court of this county under a peremptory writ of mandate issued today by the district court of appeals of the first district. Final action is awaiting the preparation of the necessary papers by the attorneys for Ruef and as soon as they are prepared the order will issue that will compel the local courts to dispose of all the charges under which Ruef rests while serving his sentence of 14 years in San Quentin for bribery.

Ruef's attorneys in their petition alleged that Ruef's constitutional rights had been impaired when he was not brought to trial within 60 days under any of the indictments. The indictments against the fallen boss were returned in two batches and it was held that Ruef had not even been arraigned on any contained in the first batch.

Twenty-four indictments are still held against ex-Mayor Eugene E. Schmitz. Final action will be taken upon them next Thursday.

BAITIMORE, May 13.—An agreement was reached early this morning at a conference between the leaders of the Taft and Roosevelt forces to split even on Maryland's delegation to the Republican national convention. Each side will have two delegates at large and six district delegates, 16 in all. The delegation will be instructed to vote for Colonel Roosevelt for president as long as he has any possible chance of receiving the nomination.

At the state convention today a Roosevelt man will be chosen temporary chairman and a Taft man permanent chairman.

STRIKE SITUATION QUIET

CHICAGO, May 13.—Fewer arrests were made today in the new labor strike than at any time since the beginning of the labor trouble.

The action of the typographical union in voting against joining the president and stereotypes in a sympathy strike recently had a demoralizing effect on the strikers, and their friends and as a result, arrests of new papers were not as frequent as in the last days.

Newspapers were sold peaceably at a very low price and a man in a uniform who was protecting the markets of newspapers declared that the situation was quiet.

expressed here in the last 10 years or since the storm of May 30, 1874, when a foot of snow fell in the Pikes Peak region.

Appeared to Be Big Fire.

The changing intensity of the lights in Colorado Springs and vicinity early last night, owing to trouble along the power circuits together with the increased reflection in the sky caused by the snow, led many people to believe that there was a big fire in the vicinity. Lights from the street cars on the Broadmoor line and the headlights of the Short Line engines were reflected far out across the prairie. The phenomenon was observed by many people who called the fire department and the Gazette office to learn the cause.

DENVER

DENVER, May 13.—Ten inches of snow had fallen here before midnight and it was still snowing in Denver and many parts of the state. Little apprehension was felt by Colorado fruit growers. VALUE OF TONIC IN FIVE MINUTES

Novel Experiments Astound Patrons at a Prominent Drug Store

MANY ARE BECOMING INTERESTED

New Tonic Especially Adapted to Eradicate Modern Malady

Some interesting experiences took place at the Robinson Drug Company, 1015 N. Tejon, during the public trial of the Tonic Vita, now on hand at the store. The Tonic Vita, a new medicine, is produced by the Robinson Drug Company, and is a high percentage of the population in the larger cities of today. It is a medicine that is recognized by the medical profession, both here and abroad. It is a medicine that is a tonic in the truest sense of the word. The experiments were made to show the immediate effect of Tonic Vita as the medicine is called upon cases of nervous debility. The principal symptoms of debility as explained by the specialists are as follows: A continual dull tired feeling, lack of ambition, irregular appetite, poor digestion, nervousness, mental depression, poor memory. One of the chief characteristics of a sufferer from nervous debility is a gloomy mental attitude, extreme timidity and susceptibility to coughs and colds. The victim is constantly under the impression that some calamity is about to occur.

From among the callers the specialists selected twenty or so and after questioning them closely as to their symptoms gave them the correct amount of the medicine to be taken at a single dose. About five minutes later these people were questioned as to the effect of the medicine and all stated that relief had been almost instantaneous.

Some of the replies were remarkable. One elderly woman said: "I had been dead on my feet for ten years past. This is the first drop of medicine I have taken that has helped me at all. I felt like a different person two minutes after taking it."

A man about 30 said: "I am a bank clerk and my health has been poor for two years. I have not known what is the matter with me exactly but I have been little good to myself or anyone else as I just dragged myself around. I don't know whether this medicine will make me feel like my old self for good but this one dose has helped me more than all the other stuff I have taken. It seemed to take right hold and put new life in me."

The specialists will be at the Robinson Drug Company from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily. A free trial of the tonic will be given those who desire it. The medicine must prove entirely satisfactory or the purchase price is refunded.

GIBRALTAR STORMED BY MONKEYS

From the New York Evening World

A modern Battle of Gibraltar took place in the old Moorish castle used as a cell prison between the monkeys that infest the rock and the prison warders.

One monkey nearly choked Senior Warden Cheeson to death and the animals finally drove their human foes into the prison. The monkeys have been considered almost tame. They are Barbary apes and are the only monkeys in Europe not in captivity.

THE INDIGENT CONSUMPTIVE PROBLEM

THE saddest aspect of the tuberculosis problem in Colorado Springs, and in every, like resort, is the presence of large numbers of consumptives who are without sufficient means to obtain proper treatment, or even the bare necessities of life. How to provide for those who are already here and how to prevent others from coming are questions that tax the ingenuity of city and county authorities, of the heads of charitable institutions, and of philanthropic citizens generally.

This situation is due partly to the dense ignorance of many Eastern physicians who send patients here with the cruel assurance that as soon as they find themselves in this health-giving environment they will be able to do productive work, partly to the neglect or inability of the families of the invalids to provide properly for their comfort, and partly to dire necessity. The desire to live dies hard, and the victim of tuberculosis clutches eagerly at the hope that if he gets to Colorado Springs he can manage somehow to find a way either to earn his living or to obtain treatment without cost in some mythical free sanatorium.

What is the result? People in all stages of the disease are constantly coming to Colorado Springs without enough money to provide for their future. Their pecuniary circumstances differ as widely as the degree of their ill-health. Some are really able to perform some sort of work, but all of this class want light out-door employment and of course there are a dozen applicants for every such position. Some have money enough to pay board and room rent, indefinitely or for a limited time, and are dependent entirely on the chance of getting employment to pay for medical treatment. But worst of all there are many who are absolutely indigent. Again and again the Associated Charities, the County Commissioners, and the Health Department are appealed to for immediate relief for some poor creature, perhaps in the last stages of tuberculosis who has gotten off a train here with scarcely a dollar in his pocket.

AN OFFICIAL WARNING TO INVALIDS.

It is safe to say that a large majority of the invalids who come here without adequate means of support do so under a complete misapprehension of local conditions. Many of them have been told that there is a free sanatorium in Colorado Springs where treatment is given indefinitely to all applicants. Others have been assured that within a few weeks after coming their condition will be so improved that they can work for a livelihood, and that employment can easily be had. And again, incredible as it seems, there are many well-authenticated cases of helpless consumptives who have been sent here by relatives with assurance that their wants would be regularly supplied by remittance, only to find in a little while that the remittances ceased.

A few years ago the situation with respect to indigent consumptives became so serious in Arizona that the local authorities were compelled to publish broadcast throughout the country a warning to all such persons to stay away unless they possessed means sufficient to provide for their wants. And now this course has been adopted in Colorado by the State Board of Charities and Correction. The Board has issued a circular letter to physicians, clergymen and fraternal societies in the East from which the following is an extract:

Another erroneous impression which has gone abroad is that consumptives can find suitable work.

Physicians who recommend that their patients come to Colorado when they are without funds and on the representation that there are public sanatoria here are guilty of malpractice.

The problem of caring for the indigent tubercular, the patient without means of support, whether in the incipient or the advanced stage of the disease, has reached such tremendous proportions in Colorado that the State Board of Charities and Correction has determined to carry on a campaign of education and enlist the cooperation of physicians and all charitable organizations, fraternal and aid societies, to place before the public the facts and to bring about proper solution of this very vital subject. In justice to the patient, the erroneous impression that exists in the east that in Denver and Colorado there are numerous public sanatoria where patients receive treatment, should be corrected.

As Colorado is the paradise for consumptives who have sufficient means to give them the proper care, Colorado is also the purgatory of the homeless, penniless, workless consumptives, and every state in the Union should establish sanatoria wherein this otherwise hopeless class can be properly treated and cared for in their home states.

We do not desire to minimize the wonderful health-giving resources of our beautiful state, but the dependent consumptive who comes to Colorado commits an irreparable wrong to himself and to society.

FACTS WHICH CONSUMPTIVES SHOULD KNOW.

People who contemplate coming to Colorado for the treatment of tuberculosis should do so only with a full understanding of the following facts:

(1) They must have money enough to pay for their living for an indefinite time in clean, comfortable quarters with wholesome, well-cooked food of the kind suitable for consumptives.

(2) They must not rely on finding employment. Absolute rest is an essential part of the treatment in nine-tenths of the cases of tuberculosis, and there is not enough employment in Colorado Springs even for the remaining one-tenth who are able to work.

(3) There are no free sanatoria in Colorado Springs except such as are maintained by the Modern Woodmen of America and the International Typographical Union, and these are open only to members of those orders and then only after application has been acted on in due form by the proper authorities. Invalids who come here expecting to find a free general tuberculosis hospital are doomed to certain disappointment.

(4) If real progress is to be made in the treatment of tuberculosis the patient requires special care and attention. Things which are comforts, or even luxuries, to the well are to him necessities. There are no relative degrees of goodness to the consumptive's food; it must be the best. The freshest eggs, the purest milk and the most nourishing cuts of meat are essential, and these things cost money. Therefore, he must expect to pay more for his living than would the average healthy individual.

(5) He must not expect a speedy cure. There is no quick and easy road to health, and progress, even in the most satisfactory cases, is made what seems a slow rate. Therefore, it is all the more important that his peace of mind shall not be disturbed and his cure retarded by worry over money matters.

(6) Although Colorado is unquestionably the best place in America for a consumptive who has the means to secure these advantages, the invalid who cannot obtain them is likely to make better progress at home by availing himself of such open-air treatment and methods of living as are within his reach.

OPEN PARLIAMENT

SUGGESTIONS FOR INVALIDS.

To the Editor of The Gazette

Will you kindly allow me a little space in your paper that I may pass on to other sufferers two bits of useful knowledge which are the fruit of experience?

Conversation with several nurses of thorough training and long experience convinces me that very few nurses know that a large part of the physical suffering which inevitably comes simply from the fact that patients must spend so many hours in bed can be greatly alleviated by the patient wearing an undergarment of India silk (which is washable) or by having cushions, that must often be used covered with the silk.

These again, if cushions made of curled hair instead of the usual cotton they can be kept from matting down, becoming hard and uncomfortable. I hope that these suggestions may bring to many the same relief from discomfort that I and some of my friends have experienced. L. W. H. Colorado Springs, May 11.

FEED THE BIRDS.

To the Editor of The Gazette

On account of the severe change in the weather and snow-covered ground many birds are perishing.

If you will hang up lumps of suet and scatter crumbs millet and other grain you will be repaid by the sight of many birds feeding thereon.

At one lunch counter today were seen a pair of brilliant orioles several towhees, a yellow warbler, a black burnian warbler (a very rare bird hereabouts), a dozen or more scarlet house finches, a variety of blue birds, wrens and robins.

These birds are unable to find sufficient food and unless their friends look out for them we will miss their merry songs this summer.

THE STATUS OF JUDGES.

To the Editor of The Gazette

I suppose that we all admit "the reign of law" in all we know or guess at in the universe of which we are a part. We are ready to admit that any lapse in the customary procession of the seasons or any unusual break in what are called "nature's laws" entails disaster both present and future, costly and often fatal to life and the means of sustaining and prolonging it. That wise old philosopher, Job, says "Shall not the Judges of all the earth do right?"

In these no possibility of establishing and carrying out fixed laws in the government of our country, which will so raise the standard of our law dispensation that each or punishment for delinquency or incapacity will be an unknown event.

I suppose it will be conceded that fixed laws on moral grounds are necessary to the growth and stability of a country, especially a young and rapidly growing community. Also that unless carried out faithfully the wisest enactments become a dead letter, unworthy of respect and certainly not gaining it.

Will not some one far more competent than I am take up this question in a practical way? Progressive judicial reform would surely interest our best thinkers and most active workers of the country.

I would suggest that strong and unblemished character be the first requisite in the appointment

daily conduct of affairs, with some technical legal knowledge. A judge should not look upon his office as a means of living, but as a suitable reward of merit—the highest, perhaps, and the most worthy of honor. Judge should be well paid to avoid criticism from those to whom honor is an abstract quantity rather than a living issue. A judge should be a "gentleman" in the best sense of that much abused word. I cannot doubt that as time goes on many will be found to endorse my views.

Know Whereof You Speak

By RUTH CAMERON.

It seems to me that there is at least one quality which is daily becoming less common among us, and that is accuracy. This is the day of big things of large undertakings, and broad outlooks and general culture but it is most emphatically not the day of accurate knowledge. If you will take the pains to notice you will find that the average person knows a great many things loosely, but very little exactly. Indeed it seems to be very difficult for the average person to be exact and definite about anything.

I was anxious to hear about a certain kind of work which was being done by a woman in a neighboring city. I was told that a friend of mine knew this woman well and could tell me all about it. When I went to interview her on the subject, she corroborated this. Oh yes, she knew all about it, she had lived next door to the woman for six months, she assured me. It sounded hopeful, but when we came down to definite facts, I was less delighted, for the following is a fair sample of the accuracy of her information. How much could Mrs. A. usually make at this work? Well, I'm not exactly sure. It was either $10 a week or $30 a month. I've heard several times, but I can't seem to remember which.

A friend of mine was visiting in a city some miles from home. To get to the depot from her hostess' home she was obliged to travel on the trolley car. When it came time for her to go home, she planned on a certain train which would get her back to town in season for an important engagement and then asked what time she could get a trolley car to take her to the train. Her friends assured her that the trolley car, which went past their street at 10 minutes after the hour, would give her ample time. Unfortunately, 10 turned out to be merely one of those round numbers which this generation is so prone to content itself. The car actually went past at 10:05 minutes after the hour. She missed it, missed her train, and could not keep the important engagement.

The man who wears a watch that he is sure is exactly right is a rare axis, and a popular one, too, for all the inaccurate watch carriers are constantly availing themselves of his accuracy. And in at least nine homes out of 10, if you ask "Is that clock exactly right?" you will be told "No, I think it is a little fast—I don't know just how much?" or "I'm not sure—I afraid it runs a little, or something of that sort."

To be sure, not knowing the exact time of day, or the time a trolley car goes, is not wicked, although it certainly causes infinite trouble, but things like these are indications of our national trend towards inexactness and inaccuracy.

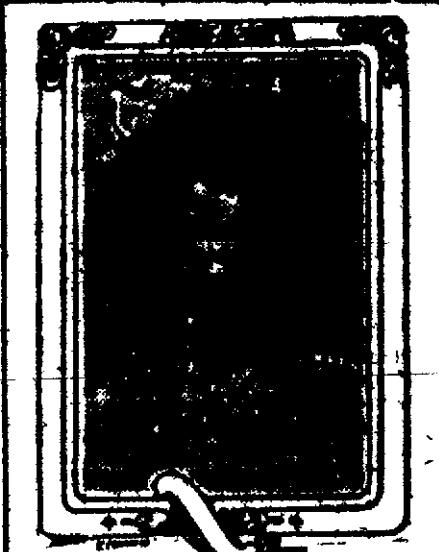

There is an expression "I want what I want when I want it" which is said to be characteristic of the American people. I wish it could also be said of us that we know what we know when we know it.

In the home, in the schools, in public life, in business life in professional life in our children, in ourselves, it certainly behooves us to fight this growing tendency to be satisfied with careless and inaccurate knowledge.

SEA TRAVEL SAFER THAN EVER.

From the New York Herald

On every side comment is heard on the dangers of ocean travel, and here and there we hear of some timid soul who has canceled passage or altered vacation plans. This is the same of foolishness. Never since the days when Father Noah was making a name for himself as a navigator has ocean travel been so safe as it is now. The Titanic disaster has taught mankind valuable lessons and destroyed that overconfidence which was the chief cause of a tragedy that shocked humanity.

GUM CHEWING GIRLS

Copyright, 1912, by Laura Jean Libbey.

The most beautiful sight which the world can produce is a sweet, fair young girl with the stamp of innocence on her face. We can find pardon for all of the youthful pranks which she is liable to fall into—save one. That is the habit of chewing gum. It can be readily understood how this fault comes natural to the feminine sex ever since some bold searcher after ancient truths, gravely asserted that when Adam first beheld Eve, after awakening from his long slumber, he discovered her fast asleep, chewing gum. He does not mention how she became possessed of the gum. That is another story.

At any rate, whether this be true or false, women have kept their jaws going ever since. Those not given to garuloseousness have taken it out on chewing gum, especially in early youth. No girl can really tell what she found pleasure in it. Unlike a man's cigar, it does not bring her consolation, for can the spicy weed afford her companionship, causing her to forget dull care, inviting her imagination to wander into pleasant grooves.

To get right down to the kernel of the matter, is there anything which a girl can do that will make her appear more ridiculous than keeping her jaws working in public?

If these girls were forced to stand before a looking glass and view their contortions of face, they would readily understand why they create so much amusement in public. The habit grows so strong upon some girls that they cannot be separated from their dearly beloved gum even at theater or ball.

The humiliation which one young girl suffered because of it should be a warning to all girls. The fiance of the young woman in question had urged his sweetheart to abandon the habit. Though she loved him dearly, she refused to comply with his request. On an occasion the young man secured seats in a box at the theater for his sweetheart and himself. He had become so used to seeing her chew gum that he ceased to notice it. So absorbed was he in the progress of the play that he failed to observe the amusement of the audience, whose attention was directed to the girl. She chewed her gum frantically as the intensity on the stage progressed. The climax was reached as a little boy in the orchestra exclaimed in shrill childish treble "O, ma, look at the woman in the box, making dreadful faces at the actors."

A worried young man asks me in a four-page letter to write something about the gum chewing habit that will make girls take notice. I hope the above article will have the desired effect.

ANSWERS

"SWEETEST DARLING IN WORLD."

"Dear Miss Libbey I am deeply in love with the sweetest girl in the world. She lives in Milwaukee. I see her every Saturday, and the more I see her the more I love her. I have one thing to ask you Miss Libbey. She loves me, and calls me her 'honey boy,' and other dear sweet names, but she objects to my drinking beer. Now, I like beer and only drink light or 10 glasses at a time with her uncle, and never become intoxicated. Do you think it fair for her to ask me to quit? I never smoke cigarettes or swear, never. My friends all say I'm a decent boy. Please give me your advice. I love my darling sweetheart little girl and want to please her. Am I wrong?" O. H.

The girl is wise to object to your drinking beer. It is a foolish habit that does no good; one simply wastes money for something that one could get along without. You had better follow the girl's advice in the matter. It is good advice.

THEY ALL PROPOSE.

"Dear Miss Libbey I have known a young lady for about 15 years. About five months ago I began to call on her. She was a widow, I know her mother, and since he had known her for the length of time I have (15 years) or more he asked her to marry him, but was refused. This she told me herself. Later on, again another, she says, asked to marry her, who also was refused. Now what I want to know is, what do you think her object is in telling me all that? And do you think I stand any chance if I ask her to marry me?" R.

I think the girl is bluffing. She probably wants you to propose. Yes, I think perhaps you could get her.

CALL HER AN OLD MAID.

"Dear Miss Libbey, Please tell me if you think people are justified in calling me an old maid when I have only just turned 24." ANXIOUS.

No, I think she'd be rude people.

SHALL SHE GIVE HIM UP?

"Dear Miss Libbey I am 18 and deeply in love with a young man of 21. We have gone with each other for almost three years and during that time he has certainly been a very attentive. Although he has never spoken of his love for me, still his actions speak it. In fact, he has told me he had no serious intentions. He is jealous and never wants me to go with anyone else. Shall I give him up and go to another, who says he loves me?" ROSALIND.

If you don't care for the fellow you might as well not waste your time going about with him.

CARIBBEAN POLITICS

XIV—POLITICAL QUARRELS IN NICARAGUA

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, April 28.—One scarcely can imagine, unless he has been on the ground, the chaotic political conditions which exist in this war-torn country. When the late Thomas C. Dawson patched up a provisional government in Nicaragua, with Juan Estrada as provisional president on the understanding that Estrada could not succeed himself, and the further understanding that after two years there should be a regular and fair election held to choose the first president under the constitution which was to be made by the provisional government. Mr. Dawson thought that things had been fairly adjusted and that all parties and factions would acquiesce and help to make the new government a success. Every body rejoiced at the departure of Zelaya and grateful to the United States for taking the stand which resulted in his exile.

When Mr. Dawson, at that time a flying squadron of peace representing the state department, left Nicaragua, the affairs of the department were left in the hands of Thomas P. Moffat, who had made an excellent record for himself at La Guira, Venezuela, and who had afterwards been promoted first to be consul at Bluefields, and after that to represent the United States at Managua during the time diplomatic relations were broken off between the two countries. Moffat was the intimate personal friend of Estrada, and gave to that gentleman the necessary word of encouragement at the critical moment of his revolution.

Appointment Caused Faction.

When diplomatic relations were again about to be established he desired the appointment as American minister to Nicaragua and had Provisional President Estrada ask the United States to request his appointment. The state department turned down the request and appointed Elliott Northcott, until that time minister at Bogota, to the post at Managua. From the arrival of Northcott forward there was friction between these two men. Estrada had developed an ambition to succeed himself in spite of his agreement with Mr. Dawson, and in this he is said to have been encouraged and aided by Moffat, while, on the other hand, Minister Northcott insisted that Estrada should live up to his part of the agreement.

While this was going on, General Mena, one of the leaders of the Estrada revolution, got the presidential seal in his bonnet, and his comrade in that war, General Chamorro, likewise developed aspirations for the presidency. There was a provision in the agreement between the Nicaraguan government and Mr. Dawson, stipulating that the new constitution should be made by the congress and approved by the president. A congress met and adopted a constitution, the terms of which practically made inevitable the election of Mena as president. It also had other clauses in it which were unsatisfactory to President Estrada, and he refused to sign it, and sent the congress home.

Enter another congress came to Managua and adopted a constitution which was as friendly to Chamorro as the other had been to Mena. There was further trouble, and the situation finally became a complicated one by reason of the determination of Estrada to succeed himself. He, feeling that Mena was in command of the army by virtue of his position as secretary of war, decided to throw him out of that position and to remove all of the officers Mena had appointed, substituting therefor officers who were friendly to him. Mena was thrown into jail, and the American minister went there himself to make sure that no harm befall him as a result of a deliberate plot to assassinate him under the guise of keeping him a prisoner.

Estrada's Plans Miscarry.

But the plans of Estrada went awry. The army would not take orders from the officers whom he had appointed to command it, but were loyal to those who had been appointed by Mena. Mena was released from prison, and Estrada, realizing that health conditions would not be very good for him in Nicaragua thereafter, abdicated his office and fled to the port at Corinto. He expected to get a certain steamer out of Corinto, but missed it by reason of the fact that his friend, Moffat, who was departing on that steamer, thought the passenger for whom it was ordered held was Mena, and he, in turn, ordered that it should not be held. The result was that Estrada had to remain in Corinto until the next steamer, two weeks later.

Meanwhile the Liberal leaders who had been exiled when the Zelaya regime was forced out of power had returned to Nicaragua under Dr. Rodolfo Espinosa, perhaps the leading physician of Nicaragua. That he was popular with the people was evident from the ovation he received while traveling from the port at Corinto to Managua, and Espinosa was thrown into prison, charged with being a party to a conspiracy responsible for the catastrophe. But for the intervention of Secretary Knox, Espinosa would have been shot. There is a wide difference of opinion as to whether or not the explosion was the result of a genuine plot. Any one acquainted with the habits of the average Nicaraguan soldier, who thinks nothing of seating himself on a keg of powder and enjoying a cigarette, can readily believe that it was an accident. Nevertheless it was a good opportunity to get rid of Espinosa, and he was again banished from the country.

Believe Dynamite Was "Planted."

When Secretary Knox visited Nicaragua there was a rumor that dynamite had been concealed under a bridge and that his train was to be blown up. The government, as well as Secretary Knox, asserted that there was nothing tangible whatever about the rumor. Later copies of the official Gazette of Nicaragua reached the public, containing a circumstantial account of the finding of the dynamite through the premature explosion of a cartridge, and saying that some of the 40 men arrested in connection therewith already had been executed. It is impossible to say with any certainty whether or not there was a real conspiracy against Secretary Knox.

More than 1,000 Shriners bound for their homes in the east, from Los Angeles, where they have been attending the Imperial council of the order, will stop in Colorado Springs from one to two days commencing today, according to information received here.

The most of this number will come in large parties of 100 or more and remain at their special trains while in the city, but several hundred persons are expected to stop off here and remain for about a week. During their stay in the city the Shriners will be entertained by the local Masons and Shriners, and Masonic temple will be open to the public. Among the delegations to come in over the Denver & Rio Grande within the next few days are: Redwood temple Chicago, five cars, passengers arrive early this morning and leave at 9 p. m. tomorrow; Nisqually temple, Fort Wayne, Ind., 100 cars, 100 passengers, arrive 9 p. m. tomorrow and leave 6:15 p. m. tomorrow; Roma temple, Washington, D. Snow Storm Will Kill Many Birds

A mother robin sitting on her nest, though she was nearly buried in snow, was discovered by Dr. W. W. Arnold in a tree near his home on North Nevada avenue yesterday. The bird remained true to her instincts and refused to desert the nest, when she knew the cold would prove destructive to the eggs.

Dr. Arnold said last night that the present storm would destroy thousands of migratory birds in the Pike Peak region. Robins, warblers and other warm blooded birds in great numbers during the last few weeks, and being entirely unaccustomed to the cold, few will withstand it. Dr. Arnold has several birds in his hospital now, and will be obliged to care for any that may be brought to him.

New "Who's Who" Has 27,000 Names

The 1912-13 edition of Who's Who in America has just come from the press of A. N. Marquis and company of Chicago, and is now ready for distribution. The volume contains 2,640 pages, printed on a high quality thin paper and bound compactly. The geographical index, which lists by postoffice address all names in the book, has been retained, as has a summary of the birthplaces, by states and countries and the present address of all the persons biographically sketched.

The book contains 18,794 biographies and 3,081 cross references, making a total of nearly 27,000 personal sketches, or 2,828 more than the edition of 1910-11. CITY SATISFIED WITH SAND USED IN PAVING

Allegations made by Richard Clough, a contractor, regarding the quality of the sand used in the paving work, are said by officials of the street commissioner's department to have no foundation.

"The sand is all that could be desired," said Commissioner Lawton yesterday. "We have it in concrete work and in samples already, and it is crystallized as hard as can be. The tests made by Dow & Smith of New York give it the very best standard, and we are satisfied it is all right. Roy, the asphalt expert we secured from Portland, Ore. who is superintending the work, is perfectly satisfied with the sand."

Clough says the sand is largely dirt and foreign matter and is not up to grade in amount of silica contained.

May Hold Special Session to Amend State Road Laws

A movement has been started to urge Governor Shafroth to call a special session of the legislature to amend the road laws so that the money now on hand in the state treasury may be turned over to the highway commission.

Carelessness on the part of the member who had the bill in charge at the last session is the cause of the present situation, it is said. The conditions arising from the holding up of the road money have created a real emergency, declare those interested in good roads.

Assembly on state aid, and with that source closed work is at a standstill. El Paso county, which is without other funds for road work, could use the money to great advantage, say those in charge of the county roads.

C. P. Allen, state highway commissioner, is said to be back of the project of calling a special session. Governor Shafroth will sign such a bill if it passed, it is stated.

COURT RULES AGAINST MANITOU BOND ISSUE

Judge Morris yesterday issued a permanent injunction restraining the Manitou school board from selling the bond issue of $25,000 which was voted for the purpose of building an auditorium. It was the contention of the plaintiffs that the auditorium was not required for school purposes, but really was intended as a place wherein to hold conventions and large public meetings. The defendants rested on the official call for the election which stated that the building was to be erected for school purposes.

A stay of execution of 30 days was granted, and the school board was given 60 days in which to file a bill of exceptions, in order to carry the case to the supreme court.

It would surprise you to know of the great good that is being done by Chamberlain's Tablets. Darius Downey, of Newburg Junction, N. Y., writes: "My wife has been using Chamberlain's Tablets and finds them very effective and doing her lots of good." If you have any trouble with your stomach or bowels give them a trial. According to a rumor yesterday which has not been denied, the Holland dairy, north of this city and owned by local people, will soon go out of business, selling its daily business and property to another dairy here.

Van Horn says he intends to ship the cows to New Mexico and sell them to farmers in his vicinity so they can supply him with cream.

The Holland dairy has been in business about four years.

To Keep the Face Fresh, Clear, Youthful

(National Hygienic Review)
More important than the cosmetic care of the complexion is its physical care. To keep the face clean, fresh, youthful there's nothing better than common mercurized wax. It absorbs the sebum or fatty matter which clogs the pores, and keeps the skin unwholesome to the complexion. That's the difference. By all means, acquire the mercurized habit. It's so easy to get an ounce of the wax at the drugist's, apply at night like cold cream and wash it off next morning. There's no detention indoors, the old skin coming off so gradually no one suspects you're using anything. When in a week or two the skin is really well, you won't want to need, or make-up complexion after that.

For obstinate wrinkles, a face bath made by dissolving an ounce of savillon in a half pint of water, surgical massage cream for results.

At a meeting of the Ministerial association yesterday it was decided to request all the pastors of the city to postpone all church services next Sunday evening except those to be held in five central churches. There the services are proposed to be held in the interests of the Men and Religion Forward movement and continued over Monday. A number of speakers are expected to be here from Denver.

The Rev. W. E. Bennett was elected secretary, to succeed the Rev. E. H. Liles and the Rev. W. E. Bennett was elected temporary chairman to serve the remainder of the month.

COLORADO CITY MEN MEET; DISCUSS FREIGHT RATES

The Colorado City chamber of commerce last night to consider the freight rate problem, which has been before the commercial men of the town for several months. Secretary George Finner read a number of letters from different railroad companies to the effect that the matter was under consideration and a favorable reply might be looked for. It is thought that some adjustment may be made by the railroads themselves, rather than by the interstate commerce commission. It was decided to hold another meeting in the near future to take some definite action.

The dust problem also was discussed and a committee appointed to look into the matter and recommend some plan to permanently lay the dust which blows from the dumps of the old mills. This committee will estimate the cost and practicability of covering the dumps with dirt, cement or oil and will confer with engineers on the subject.

News of Local Courts

Flora Merrill was granted a divorce from Edward Merrill by Judge Little yesterday, and given the custody of their two sons Philip aged 18 and Archibald, aged 16. She charged non-support. The couple were married in Hudson, Wis., August 12, 1884.

In the case of Dr. H. G. Duncan vs. Mrs. Bertha Walton, a suit in Justice Dunnington's court yesterday brought in a verdict for the defendant. The action was a money demand suit for $500. The defendant alleged that the money was due from her former husband, W. S. Walton, a member of the fire department, from whom she was divorced some time ago. The case was appealed to the county court.

In the district court yesterday the decision of the county court in the case of May Cobb Smith and Lillian Cobb Stratton against the Stratton estate was confirmed. The county court decided against the defendants who sued to secure interest amounting in each case, to about $15,000 on legacies left by the late W. S. Stratton.

Judge W. S. Morris yesterday affirmed the decision of the county court in the case of the plaintiffs in the case of W. H. Bacon and Florence Ashby, as administrators, against the legacies under the will of John H. Bacon. W. H. Bacon, who is sole heir-at-law of the late John H. Bacon, asserted that he is entitled to half of the estate under the law of descent. The defendants claim that their legacies take precedence and must be paid first, which is said would use up all the estate. The case will carry to the supreme court.

A WOMAN'S WISDOM.

The worried mother wakes up to hear her baby's heavy breathing—a little cough—perhaps the croup or whooping cough. She does not want to send for the doctor when perhaps the trouble does not amount to much. Finally she thinks of that medical book her father gave her, The Common Sense Medical Adviser, by R. V. Pierce, M. D. She says "just the thing to find out what is the matter with the little dear." Two million households in this country own one—and it's to be had for only 31c, in stamps—1,000 pages in splendid cloth binding. A good family adviser in any emergency. It is for either sex. This is what many women write Dr. Pierce—in respect to his "Favorite Prescription," a remedy which has made thousands of melancholy and miserable women cheerful and happy, by curing the painful womanly diseases which undermine a woman's health and strength.

"My desire is to write a few lines to let you know what your valuable medicine has done for me," writes Mrs. M. J. H. of 333 S. Bentall Street, Baltimore, Md. "Before the store camp to our house I was a very sick woman. I wrote you for advice with a kindly given and which made me a different woman in a short time. After taking the first bottle of 'Favorite Prescription' I began improving so that I hardly knew I was in such a condition. I did my own housework—washing and ironing, cooking, sewing and the worst of all nursed three children who had whooping cough. I hardly knew of the advent ten minutes before so easy was it. The baby is as fat as a butter ball. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best medicine for any woman to take when in this condition. I recommend it to all my friends."

THE saddest aspect of the tuberculosis problem in Colorado Springs, and in every like resort, is the presence of large numbers of consumptives who are without sufficient means to obtain proper treatment, or even the bare necessities of life. How to provide for those who are already here and how to prevent others from coming are questions that tax the ingenuity of city and county authorities, of the heads of charitable institutions, and of philanthropic citizens generally.

This situation is due partly to the dense ignorance of many Eastern physicians who send patients here with the cruel assurance that as soon as they find themselves in this health-giving environment they will be able to do productive work; partly to the neglect or inability of the families of the invalids to provide properly for their comfort, and partly to dire necessity. The desire to live dies hard, and the victim of tuberculosis clings eagerly to the hope that if he gets to Colorado Springs, he can manage somehow to find a way either to earn his living or to obtain treatment without cost in some mythical free sanatorium.

What is the result? People in all stages of the disease are constantly coming to Colorado Springs without enough money to provide for their future. Their pecuniary circumstances differ as widely as the degree of their ill-health. Some are really able to perform some sort of work, but all of this class want light out-door employment and of course there are a dozen applicants for every such position. Some have money enough to pay board and room rent, indefinitely or for a limited time, and are dependent entirely on the chance of getting employment to pay for medical treatment. But worst of all there are many who are absolutely indigent. Again and again the Associated Charities, the County Commissioners, and the Health Department are appealed to for immediate relief for some poor creature, perhaps in the last stages of tuberculosis, who has gotten off a train here with scarcely a dollar in his pocket.

AN OFFICIAL WARNING TO INVALIDS.

It is safe to say that a large majority of the invalids who come here without adequate means of support do so under a complete misapprehension of local conditions. Many of them have been told that there is a free sanatorium in Colorado Springs where treatment is given indefinitely to all applicants. Others have been assured that within a few weeks after coming their condition will be so improved that they can work for a livelihood, and that employment can easily be had. And again, incredible as it seems, there are many well-authenticated cases of helpless consumptives who have been sent here by relatives with assurances that their wants would be regularly supplied by remittance, only to find in a little while that the remittances ceased.

A few years ago the situation with respect to indigent consumptives became so serious in Arizona that the local authorities were compelled to publish broadcast throughout the country a warning to all such persons to stay away unless they possessed means sufficient to provide for their wants. And now this course has been adopted in Colorado by the State Board of Charities and Correction. The Board has issued a circular letter to physicians, clergymen and fraternal societies in the East from which the following is an extract:

Another erroneous impression which has gone abroad is that consumptives can find suitable work.

Physicians who recommend that their patients come to Colorado when they are without funds and on the representation that there are public sanatoria here are guilty of malpractice.

The problem of caring for the indigent tubercular, the patient without means of support, whether in the incipient or the advanced stage of the disease, has reached such tremendous proportions in Colorado that the State Board of Charities and Correction has determined to carry on a campaign of education and enlist the cooperation of physicians and all charitable organizations, fraternal and aid societies, to place beproper solution of this very vital subject. It is just as to the patient, the erroneous impression that seems to exist in the east that in Denver and Colorado there are numerous public sanatoria where patients receive treatment, should be corrected.

As Colorado is the paradise for consumptives who have sufficient means to give them the proper care, Colorado is also the purgatory of the homeless, penniless, workless consumptive; and every state in the Union should establish sanatoria wherein this otherwise hopeless class can be properly treated and cared for in their home states.

We do not desire to minimize the wonderful health-giving resources of our beautiful state; but the dependent consumptive who comes to Colorado commits an irreparable wrong to himself and to society.

FACTS WHICH CONSUMPTIVES SHOULD KNOW.

People who contemplate coming to Colorado for the treatment of tuberculosis should do so only with a full understanding of the following facts:

(1) They must have money enough to pay for their living for an indefinite time in clean, comfortable quarters with wholesome, well-cooked food of the kind suitable for consumptives.

(2) They must not rely on finding employment. Absolute rest is an essential part of the treatment in nine-tenths of the cases of tuberculosis, and there is not enough employment in Colorado Springs even for the remaining one-tenth who are able to work.

(3) There are no free sanatoria in Colorado Springs except such as are maintained by the Modern Woodmen of America and the International Typographical Union, and these are open only to members of those orders and then only after application has been acted on in due form by the proper authorities. Invalids who come here expecting to find a free general tuberculosis hospital are doomed to certain disappointment.

(4) If real progress is to be made in the treatment of tuberculosis the patient requires special care and attention. Things which are comforts, or even luxuries, to the well are to him necessities. There are no relative degrees of goodness to the consumptive's food; it must be the best. The freshest eggs, the purest milk and the most nourishing cuts of meat are essential, and these things cost money. Therefore, he must expect to pay more for his living than would the average healthy individual.

(5) He must not expect a speedy cure. There is no quick and easy road to health, and progress, even in the most satisfactory cases, is made what seems a slow rate. Therefore, it is all the more important that his peace of mind shall not be disturbed and his cure retarded by worry over money matters.

(6) Although Colorado is unquestionably the best place in America for a consumptive who has the means to secure these advantages, the invalid who cannot obtain them is likely to make better progress at home by availing himself of such open-air treatment and methods of living as are within his reach.

SUGGESTIONS FOR INVALIDS.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
Will you kindly allow me a little space in your paper that I may pass on to other sufferers two bits of useful knowledge which are the fruit of experience?

Conversation with several nurses of thorough training and long experience convinces me that very few nurses know that a large part of the physical suffering which inevitably comes simply from the fact that patients must spend so many hours in bed can be greatly alleviated by the patient wearing an undergarment of India silk, (which is washable) or by having cushions, that must often be used, covered with the silk.

Then, again, if cushions are made of curled hair instead of the usual cotton they can be kept from matting down, becoming hard and uncomfortable. I hope that these suggestions may bring to many the same relief from discomfort that I and some of my friends have experienced. L. W. H., Colorado Springs, May 13.

FEED THE BIRDS.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
On account of the severe change in the weather and snow-covered ground many birds are perishing. If you will hang up lumps of suet and scatter crumbs, millet and other grain you will be repaid by the sight of many birds feeding thereon.

At one lunch counter today were seen a pair of brilliant orioles, several juncos, a yellow warbler, black burnian warbler, a very rare bird hereabouts, a dozen or more scarlet house finches, a variety of blue birds, wrens and robins.

These birds are unable to find sufficient food and unless their friends look out for them we will miss their merry songs this summer.

THE STATUS OF JUDGES.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
I suppose that we all admit "the reign of law" in all we know or guess at in the universe of which we are a part. We are ready to admit that any lapse in the customary procession of the seasons or any unusual break in what are called "nature's laws" entails disaster both present and future, costly and often fatal to life and the means of sustaining and prolonging it. That wise old philosopher, Job, says "Shall not the Judge of all the earth be righteous?"

Is there no possibility of establishing and carrying out fixed laws in the government of our country which will so raise the standard of our law dispensers that recall or punishment for dishonesty or incapacity will be an unknown event?

I suppose it will be conceded that fixed laws on moral grounds are necessary to the growth and stability of a country, especially a young and rapidly growing community; also that, unless carried out faithfully, the wisest enactments become a dead letter, unworthy of respect and certainly not gaining it.

Will not some one, far more competent than I am, take up this question in a practical way? Progressive judicial reform would surely interest our best thinkers and most active workers of the country.

I would suggest that strong and unblemished character be the first requisite in the appointment

daily conduct of affairs, with some technical legal knowledge. A judge should not look upon his office as a means of living, but as a suitable reward of merit—the highest, perhaps, and the most worthy of honor. Judge should be well paid to avoid criticism from those to whom honor is an abstract quantity rather than a living issue. A judge should be a "gentleman" in the best sense of that much abused word. I cannot doubt that as time goes on many will be found to endorse my views. MRS. M. A. GARSTIN, Colorado Springs, May 13.

Stingy Husbands

By WALT MASON.

The tightwad drives the wife and mother into the surface tents. Some men with anger nearly smother when asked for 50 cents. The housewife works around like blazes, and when she needs a yen, her husband utters reproachful phrases: "Great Scott!" More wealth again? "You'll have us in a sorry pickle—your conduct's much too fast; have you already spent the nickel I gave you Monday last? No money left, you haven't any? You need some shoestrings, Belle? Here, you may have this hard-earned penny—invest it wisely, well!" No wonder that the dames, disgusted, are kicking in their tugs; no wonder plate glass fronts are busted by wrathful lady thugs. No wonder that the girls are saying: "I'll go my way alone; I've better earning money having, and have it for my own, than be the mistress of a palace, to live in discontent, with one who fairly breaks his gallus when parting from a cent!" Ten thousand wives who are with misers are plunged in dark despair; and if they join the bold uprisers, the tightwads drive them there.

Know Whereof You Speak

By RUTH CAMERON.

It seems to me that there is at least one quality which is daily becoming less common among us, and that is accuracy. This is the day of big things, of large undertakings, and broad outlooks and general culture, but it is most emphatically not the day of accurate knowledge. If you will take the pains to notice, you will find that the average person knows a great many things loosely, but very little exactly. Indeed, it seems to be very difficult for the average person to be exact and definite about anything.

I was anxious to hear all about a certain kind of work which was being done by a woman in a neighboring city. I was told that a friend of mine knew this woman well, and could tell me all about it. When I went to interview her on the subject, she corroborated this. Oh, yes, she knew all about it; she had lived next door to the woman for six months, she assured me glibly. It sounded hopeful, but when we came down to definite facts, I was less delighted, for the following is a fair sample of the accuracy of her information: "How much could Mrs. A. usually make at this work?" "Well, I'm not exactly sure. It was either $10 a week, or $30 a month. I've heard, several times, but I can't seem to remember which."

A friend of mine was visiting in a city some miles from home. To get to the depot from her hostess' home she was obliged to travel on the trolley car. When it came time for her to go home, she planned on a certain train which would get her back to town in season for an important engagement, and then asked what time she could get a trolley car to take her to the train. Her friends assured her that the trolley car, which would pass their street at 10 minutes after the hour, would save her ample time. Unfortunately, 10 turned out to be merely one of those round numbers which this generation is so prone to content itself with. She actually went at seven minutes after the hour. She missed it, missed her train, and could not keep the important engagement.

The man who wears a watch that he is sure is exactly right is a rare avia and a popular one, too, for all the inaccurate watch carriers are constantly availing themselves of his accuracy. And in at least nine homes out of 10, if you ask: "Is that clock exactly right?" you will be told: "No, I think it is a little fast—I don't know just how much," or "I'm not sure—I'm afraid it loses a little," or something of that sort.

To be sure, not knowing the exact time of day, or the time a trolley car goes, is not wicked, although it certainly causes infinite trouble, but things like these are indications of our national trend towards inexactness and inaccuracy.

There is an expression: "I want what I want when I want it," which is said to be characteristic of the American people. I wish it could also be said of us that we know what we know when we know it.

Is the home, in the schools, in public life, in business life, in professional life, in our children, in ourselves, certainly becoming more and more a growing tendency to be satisfied with careless and inaccurate knowledge.

SEA TRAVEL SAFER THAN EVER.

From the New York Herald.
On every side comment is heard on the dangers of ocean travel, and here and there we hear of some timid soul who has canceled passage or altered destination plans. This is the acme of foolishness. Nevertheless, the days when Father Noah was making name for himself as a navigator was ocean travel as safe as it is now. The Titanic disaster has taught many valuable lessons and destroyed that overconfidence which was the chief cause of a tragedy that shocked humanity.

GUM CHEWING GIRLS

Copyright, 1912, by Laura Jean Libbey.

The most beautiful sight which the world can produce is a sweet, fair young girl with the stamp of innocence on her face. We can find pardon for all of the youthful pranks which she is liable to slip into—save one. That is the habit of chewing gum. It can be readily understood how this fault comes natural to the feminine sex ever since some bold searcher after ancient truths gravely asserted that when Adam first beheld Eve, after awakening from his long slumber, he discovered her fast asleep, chewing gum. He does not mention how she became possessed of the gum. That is another story.

As a rule, whether this be true or false, women have kept their jaws going ever since. Those not given to garulosity have taken it out on chewing gum, especially in early youth. No girl can really tell you that she found pleasure in it. Unlike a man's cigar, it does not bring her consolation; for can the "silly" war afford her companionship, causing her to forget dull care, inviting her imagination to wander into pleasant grooves.

To get right down to the kernel of the matter, is there anything which a girl can do that will make her appear more ridiculous than keeping her jaws working to public?

If these girls were forced to stand before a looking glass and view their contortions of face, they would readily understand why they create so much amusement in public. The habit grows so strong upon some girls that they cannot be separated from their dearly beloved gum even at theater or ball.

The humiliation which one young girl suffered because of it should be a warning to all girls. The glance of the young woman in question had urged his sweetheart to abandon the habit. Though she loved him dearly, she refused to comply with his request. On an occasion the young man secured seats in a box at the theater for his sweetheart and himself. He had been so used to seeing her chew gum that he ceased to notice it. So absorbed was he in the progress of the play that he failed to observe the amusement of the audience, whose attention was directed to the girl. She chewed her gum frantically as the intensity on the stage progressed. The climax was reached as a little boy in the orchestra exclaimed in shrill, childish treble: "O, m, look at the woman in the box making dreadful faces at the actors."

A worried young man asks me in a (rough) letter to write something about the gum chewing habit that will make girls take notice. I hope the above article will have the desired effect.

"SWEETEST DARLING IN WORLD."

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am deeply in love with the sweetest girl in the world. She lives in Milwaukee. I see her every Saturday, and the more I see her the more I love her. I have one thing to ask you about. She says she loves me, and calls me her 'honey boy' and other dear, sweet names, but she objects to my drinking beer. Now, I like beer and only drink eight or 10 glasses at a time with her uncle, and I think I'm a very good fellow. Do you think I'm a better fellow to ask me to quit beer, never? My friends all say I'm a decent boy. Please give me your advice. I love my darling sweetheart little girl and want to please her. Am I wrong?" O. H.

The girl is wise to object to your drinking beer. It is a foolish habit that does no good; one simply wastes money for something that one could get along without. You had better follow the girl's advice in the matter. It is good advice.

THEY ALL PROPOSE.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I have known a young fellow for about 15 years. About five months ago I began to call on her. The other evening a fellow I know had called on her, and since he had known her for the length of time I have (15 years) or more he asked her to marry him, but was refused. This she told me herself. Later on, again another, she asked to marry her, who also was refused. Now, what I want to know is, what do you think her object is in telling me all that? And do you think I stand any chance if I ask her to marry me?" R.

I think the girl is bluffing. She probably wants you to propose. Yes, I think perhaps you could get her.

CALL HER AN OLD MAID.

"Dear Miss Libbey: Please tell me if you think people are justified in calling me an old maid when I have only just turned 24. ANXIOUS."

No. They must be rude people.

SHALL SHE GIVE HIM UP?

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 18 and deeply in love with a young man of 21. We have gone with each other for almost three years and during that time he has certainly been very attentive. Although he has never spoken of his love for me, still his actions speak it. In fact, he has told me he had no serious intentions. He is jealous and nervous, wants me to go with anyone else. Shall I give him up and go to another, who says he loves me?" "ROBALIND."

If you don't care for the fellow you might as well not waste your time going about with him.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 14, 1882.

E. L. Bennett of the firm of Bennett Brothers discovered the decomposed body of a woman in an outburst behind an unoccupied residence on the corner of Tejon and St. Vrain streets. A partially empty bottle of laudanum led to the belief that she had committed suicide, but nothing was found by which to identify her.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Roby had extended invitations for a parlor conference at their residence in the interest of the Y. M. C. A. of this city.

The Broadmoor Casino opened for the season. Stark's Hungarian orchestra was to furnish the music.

A dissolution sale was announced by Wilbur & Wolf, Mr. Wolf being about to retire.

Broadmoor was very lively. Besides the opening concert at the Casino, there was a shoot at the gun club, a ball game at the Country club, and some enthusiasts were fishing in the lake. The street car company has inaugurated the 15-minute summer schedule.

THE HASKIN LETTER

CARIBBEAN POLITICS
XIV—POLITICAL QUARRELS IN NICARAGUA
By FRÉDÉRIC J. HASKIN.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, April 28.—One scarcely can imagine, unless he has been on the ground, the chaotic political conditions which exist in this war-ridden country. When the late Thomas C. Dawson patched up a provisional government in Nicaragua, with Juan Estrada as provisional president on the understanding that Estrada could not succeed himself, and the further understanding that after two years there should be a regular and fair election held to choose the first president under the constitution which was to be made by the provisional government, Mr. Dawson thought that things had been fairly adjusted and that all parties and factions would acquiesce and help to make the new government a success. Everybody rejoiced at the departure of Yelaz, and were grateful to the United States for taking the stand which resulted in his exile.

When Mr. Dawson, at that time a flying squadron of peace representing the state department, left Nicaragua, the affairs of the department were left in the hands of Thomas P. Moffat, who had made an excellent record for himself at La Guayra, Venezuela, and who was afterwards promoted first to be consul at Bluefields, and after that to represent the United States at Managua during the time diplomatic relations were broken off between the two countries. Moffat was the intimate personal friend of Estrada, and gave to that gentleman the necessary word of encouragement at the critical moment of his revolution.

Appointment Caused Friction.

When diplomatic relations were again about to be established, he desired the appointment as American minister to Nicaragua, and had Provisional President Estrada ask the United States to request his appointment. The state department turned down the request and appointed Elliott Northcott, until that time minister at Bogota, to the post at Managua. From the arrival of Northcott forward there was friction between these two men. Estrada had developed an ambition to succeed himself in spite of his agreement with Mr. Dawson, and in this he is said to have been encouraged and aided by Moffat, while, on the other hand, Minister Northcott insisted that Estrada should live up to his part of the agreement.

While this was going on, General Mena, one of the leaders of the Estrada revolution, got the presidential bee in his bonnet, and his comrade in that war, General Chamorro, likewise developed aspirations for the presidency. There was a provision in the agreement between the Nicaraguan factions and Mr. Dawson providing that the new constitution should be made by the congress and approved by the president. A congress met and adopted a constitution, the terms of which practically made inevitable the election of Mena as president. It also had other clauses in it which were unsatisfactory to President Estrada, and he refused to sign it, and sent the congress home.

Later, another congress came to Managua and adopted a constitution which was as friendly to Chamorro as the other had been to Mena. There was further trouble, and the situation finally became a complicated one by reason of the determination of Estrada to succeed himself. He, feeling that Mena was in command of the army by virtue of his position as secretary of war, decided to throw him out of that position and to remove all of the officers Mena had appointed, substituting therefor officers who were friendly to him. Mena was thrown into jail, and the American minister went there himself to make sure that no harm befell him as a result of a deliberate plot to assassinate him under the guise of keeping him a prisoner.

Estrada's Plans Miscarry.

But the plans of Estrada went awry. The army would not take orders from the officers whom he had appointed to command it, but were loyal to those who had been appointed by Mena. Mena was released from prison, and Estrada, realizing that health conditions would not be very good for him

Believe Dynamite Was "Planted."

When Secretary Knox visited Nicaragua there was a rumor that dynamite had been concealed under a bridge and that his train was to be blown up. The government, as well as Secretary Knox, asserted that there was nothing tangible whatever about the rumor. Later copies of the official Gazette of Nicaragua reached the public, containing a circumstantial account of the finding of the dynamite through the premature explosion of a cartridge, and saying that some of the 46 men arrested in connection therewith already had been executed. It is impossible to say with any certainty whether or not there was a real conspiracy against Secretary Knox.

SPRINGS BOYS ARRESTED FOR ENTERING HOUSE

An escapade of three Colorado Springs boys Saturday night at Green Mountain Falls led to their arrest by the authorities there on a charge of breaking and entering. The boys, who had gone on a hike to the mountain resort, were caught there by the sheriff and were compelled to stay all night, not having enough money to pay their way home. They entered an unoccupied cottage near the village and, after spending all their money, 20 cents, for food, built a fire in preparation to sleeping there. Neighbors, seeing lights, thought the boys were burglars and caused their arrest.

The youths, who come of prominent Colorado Springs families, and who are about 18 or 17 years old, proved they were guiltless of any evil intent, and the charge against them undoubtedly will be dropped today.

LOCAL ALUMNI OFFERS COLUMBIA SCHOLARSHIP

The Alumni association of Columbia university in Colorado has made arrangements to provide an annual scholarship covering one year's free tuition in either Columbia college, or the schools of mines, engineering and chemistry, or the school of fine arts (architecture, music and design), or the school of law, or the school of medicine, or any one of the three non-professional graduate schools for the academic year 1912-13. The annual value of this scholarship will vary between $150 and $250, according to the school the candidate desires to enter, and is intended to cover the tuition only and no outside expenses. The appointment of the scholarship is for one year.

Admission to the college and engineering schools is by examination. Candidates not being accepted, although applicants now in attendance at some other college or university may be admitted to advanced standing without examination. A baccalaureate degree from a college of recognized standing is required for admission to the graduate schools and the law school, and the completion of two years of college work for admission to the schools of medicine and architecture. Every student interested in this scholarship may receive an application blank by addressing the secretary of the local association, 700 W. Tenth Washington street, Denver.

This scholarship will doubtless attract many a boy desiring to do his collegiate or professional or graduate work in New York city. The award will be based partly upon the academic record of the candidate and partly upon his scholastic record.

Thomas B. Stearns is president of the Colorado Alumni association of Columbia. The scholarship committee is composed of Richard A. Parker and Daniel W. Tatars, with Dr. Charles A. Powers as chairman.

TWO SMALL FIRES

Snow Storm Will Kill Many Birds

A mother robin sitting on her nest, though she was nearly buried in snow, was discovered by Dr. W. W. Arnold in a tree near his home on North Nevada avenue yesterday. The bird remained true to her instincts and refused to desert the nest, when she knew the cold would prove destructive to the eggs.

Dr. Arnold said last night that the present storm would destroy thousands of migratory birds in the Pike's Peak region. Robins, warblers and other warm blooded birds in great numbers during the last few weeks, and, being entirely unaccustomed to the cold, few will withstand it. Dr. Arnold has several birds in his hospital now and will try to care for any that may be brought to him.

CHY SATISFIED WITH SAND USED IN PAVING

Allegations made by Richard Clough, a contractor, regarding the quality of the sand used in the paving work, are said by officials of the street commissioner's department to have no foundation.

"The sand is all that could be desired," said Commissioner Lawton yesterday. "We have it in concrete work and in samples already, and it is crystallized as hard as can be. The tests made by Dow & Smith of New York give it the very best standard, and we are satisfied it is all right. Roy, the asphalt expert we secured from Portland, Ore., who is superintending the work, is perfectly satisfied with the sand."

Clough says the sand is largely dirt and foreign matter and is not up to grade in amount of silica contained.

May Hold Special Session to Amend State Road Laws

A movement has been started to urge Governor Shafroth to call a special session of the legislature to amend the road laws so that a money now on hand in the state treasury may be turned over to the highway commission.

Carelessness on the part of the members who had the bill in charge at the last session is the cause of the present mishap, it is said. The conditions arising from the holding up of the road money have created a real emergency, declare those interested. A good road bill now pending in the legislature is likely on state aid, and that course closed work is at a standstill. El Paso county, which without other funds for road work could use the money to great advantage, say those in charge of the county roads.

C. P. Allen, state highway commissioner, is said to be back of the project of calling a special session. Governor Shafroth will sign such a bill if it passed, it is stated.

COURT RULES AGAINST MANITOU BOND ISSUE

Judge Morris yesterday issued a permanent injunction restraining the Manitou school board from selling the bond issue of $25,000 which was voted for the purpose of building an auditorium. It was the contention of the plaintiffs that the auditorium was not required for school purposes, but really was intended as a place wherein to hold conventions and large public meetings. The defendants rested on the official call for the election which stated that the building was to be erected for school purposes.

A stay of execution of 30 days was granted, and the school board was given 60 days in which to file a bill of exceptions, in order to carry the case to the supreme court.

The Holland dairy has been in business about four years.

(National Hygienic Review)
More important than the cosmetic care of the complexion is its physical care. To keep the face fresh, fresh, youthful there's nothing better than common mercurized wax. It absorbs the soiled or faded worn-out skin pores. Using cosmetics simply adds unwholesomeness to the complexion. That's the difference. By all means, acquire the mercurized habit. It's so easy to get an ounce of the wax at the druggist's apply it night like cold cream and wash it off next morning. There's no skin itching, no skin coming off so gradually no one suspects you're using anything. When in a week or two the alluringly youthful, roseline under skin is fully in view—well, you won't want or need a make-up complexion after that.

For obstinate wrinkles, a face bath made by dissolving an ounce of sorbolite in a half pint witch hazel, surpasses massage cream for results.

Plan Services for Forward Movement

At a meeting of the Ministerial association yesterday it was decided to request all the pastors of the city to postpone all church services next Sunday evening except those to be held in five central churches. There the services are proposed to be held in the interests of the Men and Religion Forward movement and continued over Monday. A number of speakers are expected to be here from Denver.

A letter from the Chamber of Commerce was read asking the co-operation of the ministers of the city in maintaining sanitary conditions where tubercular persons are believed to be. The pastors requested that an expert on the subject be sent to address the meeting.

The Rev. W. E. Bennett was elected secretary, to succeed the Rev. E. H. Liles and the Rev. Ira Bennett was elected temporary chairman to serve the remainder of the month.

COLORADO CITY MEN MEET; DISCUSS FREIGHT RATES

The Colorado City chamber of commerce met last night to consider the freight rate problem, which has been before the commercial men of the town for several months. Secretary George Geiger read a number of letters from different railroad companies to the effect that the matter was under consideration and a favorable reply might be looked for. It is thought that some adjustment may be made by the railroads themselves, rather than by the interstate commerce commission. It was decided to hold another meeting in the near future to take some definite action.

The dust problem also was discussed and a committee appointed to look into the matter and recommend some plan to permanently lay the dust which blows from the dumps of the old mills. This committee will estimate the cost and practicability of covering the dumps with dirt, cement or oil and will confer with engineers on the subject.

News of Local Courts

Flora Merrill was granted a divorce from Edward Merrill by Judge Little yesterday, and given the custody of their two sons Philip, aged 18 and Archibald, aged 16. She charged non-support. The couple were married in Hudson, Wis., August 12, 1884.

In the case of Dr. H. G. Duncan vs. Mrs. Bertha Walton, a jury in Justice Dunnington's court yesterday brought in a verdict for the defendant. The action was a money demand suit for $300. The defendant alleged that the money was due from her former husband, W. S. Walton a member of the fire department from whom she was divorced some time ago. The case was appealed to the county court.

In the district court yesterday the decision of the county court in the case of Mary Cobb Smith and Lillian Cobb Stratton against the Stratton estate was confirmed. The county court decided against the defendants who agreed to secure interest amounting in each case, to about $15,000 on legacies left by the late W. S. Stratton.

Judge W. S. Morris yesterday affirmed the decision of the county court.

A WOMAN'S WISDOM.

The worried mother wakes up to hear her baby's heavy breathing—a little cough—perhaps the croup or whooping cough. She does not want to send for the doctor when perhaps the trouble does not amount to much. Finally she thinks of that medical book her father gave her, The Common Sense Medical Adviser by R. V. Pierce, M. D. She says "just the thing to find out what is the matter with the little dear." Two million households in this country own one—and it's to be had for only 31c, in stamps—1,000 pages in splendid cloth binding. A good family adviser in any emergency. It is for either sex. This is what many women write Dr. Pierce—in respect to his "Favorite Prescription," a remedy which has made thousands of melancholy and miserable women cheerful and happy, by curing the painful womanly diseases which undermine a woman's health and strength.

"My desire is to write a few lines to let you know what your valuable medicine has done for me," writes Mrs. Margaret Z. Zenger of 323 S. Hontela Street, Baltimore, Md. "Before the doctor came to our house I was a very sick woman. I wrote you for advice which was kindly given and which made me a different woman in a short time. After taking the first bottle of 'Favorite Prescription' I began improving so that I hardly knew I was in such a condition. I did my own housework—sawing and sewing and cooking, and the worst of all aured three children who had whooping cough. I hardly knew of the advent ten minutes before—so easy was it. The baby is as fat as a butter-ball. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best medicine for any woman to take when in this condition. I recommend it to all my friends."

What the Press Agents Say

HAWLEY AND PLAYERS OPEN THE STOCK SEASON

Opening the summer stock season at the opera house last evening, James Hawley and Garrick Players were seen in Henry E. Dixey's late success, "Mary Jane's Pa." And to say the least the performance was a credit to the organization. Colorado Springs in the past has not been blessed with such an evenly balanced company as the Hawley Players. Each and every member is an artist in their different characterizations in "Mary Jane's Pa." proves the statement Mr. Hawley, who boasts of having worked in over 60 plays in this city was never seen to better advantage than in the character comedy part of "Pa." in this production. Miss Audra Alden, the lithe artist, will no doubt be one of the most popular members of the company before the season ends. Too much cannot be said of Miss Zelma Edwards' portrayal of Florida Perkins. Gretchen Knott in the part of "Mary Jane" won over the hearts of the audience from the time that she entered in the first act. Fannie Hammond is by all means the most clever character woman seen in stock at the opera house in many seasons. Much credit is due Edwin R. Stanley, who was seen in the part of Joel Skinner directing the production. Joe C. Berry and Miss Kate Stein were seen in parts most fitting to their line of work. The cast all in all is the best organization of players Colorado Springs has been offered at popular prices.

MRS. SCOTT'S SUFFERING OVER

Doctors Advised An Operation. How She Escaped Told By Herself.

Buckner, Mo.—"For more than a year I suffered agonies from female troubles and the doctors at last decided there was no help for me unless I went to the hospital for an operation. I was awfully against that operation, and as a last resort wrote to you for special advice and I told you just what I suffered with bearing down pains, backache, shooting pains in my left side, and at times I could not touch my foot to the floor without screaming. I was short of breath, had smothering spells, felt dull and draggy all the time. I could not do any work, and oh how I dreaded to have an operation."

"I received a letter full of kind advice, which I followed, and if I had only written her a year ago I would have been saved so much suffering, for today I am a well woman. I am now keeping house again and do every bit of my own work. Every one in this part of the country knows it was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that has restored me to health, and everywhere I go I recommend it to suffering women."—Mrs. Lizzie Scott, Buckner, Mo.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Those who failed to see the Alabama Minstrel last night missed a very rare treat in the minstrel line, and one that will not be forgotten by those who were so fortunate as to witness the performance. Manager Erickson is giving the people a show that is not only amusing but was thoroughly clean in every respect. In fact, there was not one present who could find anything that would offend the most fastidious tastes of the city. The show is full of fun, good jokes and late songs, all well gotten up and well rendered. The fire eating act is exceptionally good. The company, consisting of 14 people, travel in their own private cars. Should Mr. Erickson ever return to our city he is assured a full house as he has made many friends for his show by honest dealing and giving the people their money's worth in first class entertainment.—Greenville, Texas, Herald.

SNOW MADE CHILDREN HAPPY, ONE SESSION

"One session! We have only one session! Hoora!" This and many other gleeful cries were heard in every school yard in Colorado Springs shortly after the dismissal of the morning session of the schools yesterday as the children, from the tiniest tot in the kindergarten to the largest pupil in the eighth grade, came out of the buildings with the announcement of one session still ringing in their ears. "Gee, ain't snow great?" explained one little fellow as he reached the end of the walk from the building to the street and headed for the largest snow drift in sight. "You bet it is, and I wish it would snow every day!" replied his companion. "But why?" questioned a little girl.

S.S.S. CURES BLOOD POISON

When the blood becomes infected with the virus of Contagious Blood Poison, the symptoms are soon manifested. The mouth and throat ulcerate, copper-colored spots appear, a red rash breaks out, the hair begins to come out, and usually sores and ulcers show themselves on different parts of the body. At the first sign of the disease S.S.S. should be taken, for the trouble is too powerful and dangerous to trifle with. If allowed to run on the tendency is to work down and attack the bones and nerves, and sometimes it makes a complete physical wreck of the sufferer. The disease can be made no such headway if S.S.S. is commenced and used according to directions; its progress can be stopped, the poison removed, and health preserved. S.S.S. goes into the blood and removes the insidious virus, cleanses the circulation and makes a complete and permanent cure by driving out the cause. S.S.S. quickly takes effect on the blood, and gradually the symptoms disappear, the health is improved, the skin cleared of all spots, sores and blemishes, and when S.S.S. has thoroughly purified the circulation no trace of the disease is left. S.S.S., a purely vegetable remedy, cures Contagious Blood Poison because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers, tested and proven for more than forty years. PHONE M. 78.

NEW YORK, May 13.—Aside from a demonstration in the lead and coal mines, a new high record for Canadian Pacific and unusual strength in American Sugar, today's stock market inclined to irregularity and dullness. Trading was more active than Lehig Valley but its strength was less pronounced.

The buying of American Sugar suggested absorption founded perhaps on the belief that the common dividend soon might be increased. No account seemed to be taken of the federal government's sale for a dissolution. Union Pacific and other standard stocks were heavy with marked pressure against United States Steel. After a brief period of steadiness the market sold off, wiping out the greater part of the gains in Reading and other stocks, but Lehig Valley retained some of its early rise. The closing was heavy.

Advices from Kansas and adjacent states reported a better outlook for crops. The western money market remains easy with bankers mildly optimistic.

Official data from Washington, giving a summary of railway operations for February, shows that total revenues per mile averaged $366, as compared with $356 in the same month last year.

The bond market was irregular save for a further upward movement in Wabash refunding 4s. Total sales, par value, $2,739,000.

Panama 3s registered, advanced 1/2 per cent on call.

NEWBOLD, TAYLOR & GAUSS

537 Equitable Building

CHICAGO, May 13.—Announcement that the opening of the Dardanelles tomorrow would release nearly 10,000,000 bushels of wheat had a depressing effect today on the market. Closing prices were weak, 1 1/2c to 1 3/4c under Saturday night. In corn the finish was 1/2c to 3/4c down with oats off 1/2c to 3/4c. Provisions were up 1/2c to 3/4c.

Courage on the selling side developed rapidly among speculators in wheat. At the outset greatly improved crop all over the world, the outcome of recent rains, formed an influence in favor of the bears. Then, too, there were offers of new grain from Texas to be forwarded to St. Louis by June 20. Besides, world shipments were larger than expected and supplies for importing countries were estimated at 2,000,000 bushels in excess of a year ago. Surprise over the largeness of the visible supply decrease brought about a temporary upward jerk in prices, but when news arrived that cargoes of wheat valued at $9,500,000 had been tied up at the Dardanelles, would probably be released tomorrow a collapse in quotations followed and recovery ensued. The July option fluctuated from $1.12 1/2 to $1.13 1/2, closed 1 1/2c to 1 3/4c, net lower, at $1.12 1/2.

Flour weather and reports of increased acreage held the corn market steady. The promised opening of the Dardanelles affected corn also, for more than 5,000,000 bushels of corn had been held up there. July ranged from 75c to 76c, closing 1/2c to 3/4c lower at 75 1/2c. Cash grades were steady. No. 2 yellow 50 1/2c to 51 1/2c.

Traders' offers to sell new oats for early shipment north led to considerable weakness. July ranged from 54c to 55 1/2c, with the close at 54 1/2c, a loss of 1/2c compared with Saturday night.

Active buying on the part of stock yards speculators had a bracing effect on provisions. In the end pork was up 1/2c to 3/4c, lard 1/2c to 3/4c and ribs 1/2c to 3/4c.
